Council Discusses Water Rates

ROCKDALE

Rockdale's new, higher water rates occupied a lengthy discussion at a meeting of the city council, despite the fact that only one citizen met with the council to inquire about the rates that, in many cases, more than doubled with the October billing. "Frankly," City Mgr. Ernie Moore said, "we were expecting 40 to 50 citizens to be at the meeting, and I really wish they had because we had hoped to outline just what the city water department faces in revenue and expense."

Snake 'Rattles' Homeowner

McGREGOR

Talk about rattlesnakes, Richard Skipper of McGregor is. Last Friday, Richard and his daughter spotted a snake stretched out in the fireplace. Thinking it was a harmless variety, Richard got a broom and gave it a couple of whacks, whereupon the snake rattled at him. The "rattled" man figured the snake was in a large armload of wood he had carried in about three days before.

'Secret Witness' To Fight Crime

WACO

Waco Chamber of Commerce has endorsed a paid-informer program designed to assist all of McLennan County's law enforcement agencies. The program is called Secret Witness because the informe r never has to reveal his name or even talk to an officer if he does not want to. Money will be paid to informers who provide information which leads to the indictment or conviction of criminals in specified cases.

Parents Protest 'Licks'

GEORGETOWN

Several Georgetown parents expressed strong disapproval when all 32 girls in the second period eighth grade athletic class were "given licks" Friday for failing to suit out for class within a reasonable period fo time. Mrs. Frank Hubbard questioned the principal who said the teacher said it was "all in fun." She said she didn't think it was very funny.

Trustees Learn Of School Sites

BELTON

Belton school board members learned Monday night that there are two 50-acre sites in the Miller Heights area available for the consideration in the building of a new high school. Both sites are near elementary schools, accessible by existing streets, and one of the sites can be traded for the land the school owns. The two sites were not considered in previous planning for a new high school.

Gym Takes On New Look As Work Continues

The old Yoe High Gym, built in 1938, has long needed a facelift, and according to Buddy Dulin, Cameron School Superintendent, renovation is well underway and for the most part will be completed within a month.

After rejecting all bids for the job, the school system is contracting the job themselves, hoping to save money by staying under $140 thousand, which was the lowest bid offered for the job.

Dulin said that the main work done was repairing and replacing the base and studs that supported the bleachers in the gym. The wood had been eaten by termites and had been rotted by water.

The gym floor, scarred and termite eaten, was repaired and revarnished during the summer months.

Girls and boys dressing rooms are being re-done and new locker units installed. The girls area has been expanded by incorporating what once was a storage room. Shower rooms are being tiled and new shower compartments put in.

In the outher hallway, new men's and ladies' restrooms are being built and a concession stand put in.

The upstairs of the gym that had housed the old band hall and a few classrooms is being changed into a science area with 3,000 square feet of lab area. New lab equipment will be placed in the labs and classrooms. This is the only portion of the renovation that will not be completed within a month, according to Dulin.

Barbeque To Honor Highway Staff Members

The Cameron Area Chamber of Commerce, through its Highway Committee, will honor staff members of the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation, District 17, on Tuesday, Nov. 25 at 7 p.m. in the Methodist Fellowship Hall.

Highway Committee chairman L. W. Turner Jr., announced that tickets are on sale and will be available through Monday, Nov. 24.

Honored guests will come from the Bryan, Hearne, and Cameron departments. Joe G. Hanover, district engineer, will give a report on plans for highway construction in the area and also a little history on Texas highways to coincide with a Bicentennial theme.

"A barbecue meal will be served and dress will be casual," reminded Turner. "We like to keep this affair informal and just have a time of visiting with our guests. We hope that there will be the usual good turnout from our local community."

Tickets are available from members of the ticket committee or at the Chamber of Commerce office.

Patrol Reports 18 Accidents

The Texas Highway Patrol investigated 18 accidents in Milam County during October, resulting in 4 deaths and 13 injuries.

These figures result in a total of 196 accidents with 12 deaths and 88 injured in Milam County during 1975.

Rockdale Seeks Ambulance Aid

Rockdale City Mgr. Ernie Moore was on hand at Thursday's commissioners meeting to again ask the county's help in paying for ambulance calls in the county, and for more funds for fire fighting.

Moore, who had previously asked for money from the county for Rockdale's ambulance service, had a specific request for Commissioners to pay a $1,289 bill for replacing the motor in one of the two ambulances used in the south Milam service.

Moore said the motor in the vehicle burned up on an emergency call to the Bar-1-Bar Ranch for a victim of a heart attack. He said the fan belt broke while the ambulance was on its way to the hospital and the driver chose to try to save a life instead of saving the ambulance.

Moore said it was the opinion of the Rockdale city council that the county should help out in the ambulance service, as many calls were to people outside the city limits and only about 50 percent were paying for the calls. He said the service charges 50 cents per mile for outside calls and $25 inside the city limits.

He emphasized that Rockdale will not quit the ambulance service in the county but said that the city council feels the county should help with funds for the ambulances.

Moore said Rockdale's budget for fire fighting is set at $24,000 and half of the fire calls are out in the country. He said the county's payment of $800 a year is not half of $24,000.

A motion was made by Commisioner Gerald Vinton to pay the repair bill for the ambulance, but the motion died for lack of a second.

At the end of the meeting Vinton agreed to pay the bill out of his share of revenue sharing funds for his precinct.

In other business, Commissioners awarded bid for a dump body for a truck to Commercial Body Corp. of Austin which submitted low bid of $1,698.

Commissioners also heard reports from county officials and paid routine bills.

Kubiak Predicts New State Taxes In 1977

The need for school finance reform, coupled with the high inflation rate, makes it "almost impossible" to avoid some form of new tax when the next Texas legislature meets in 1977, State Rep. Dan Kubiak said Friday.

Writing in his weekly newsletter, Kubiak said that Gov. Dolph Briscoe contends the state can get along until 1979 without raising taxes, but financial experts from both the Texas Research League and the State Comptroller's office disagree. The experts say that around $1 billion in new tax money will be needed in 1977, when the next legislature comes to Austin.

"When you look at the hard facts of state finance," Kubiak said, "it is almost impossible to believe that the new legislature can avoid a new tax of some kind. Over the past 10 years, the cost of state government has increased an average of 27 percent and the legislature that just ended increased the state budget by a whopping 36 percent. For that very reason, I voted against the last appropriations bill."

He noted that around half the budget increases was caused by inflation, not by new spending programs. "That means the next legislature will have to increase state spending by around 15 percent just to cope with inflation, and any new spending programs will enlarge the basic 15 percent figure," he continued.

Kubiak said one area where more spending will almost certainly be necessary is school finance. "The last legislature failed to deal with the need to reform school finance in Texas, choosing instead to pass a two-year bill that relies heavily on local property taxes to pay for many education costs. We must transfer the education costs from the local property owner to the state."

"The simple fact is that property taxes have now been stretched to their absolute limits, and the next legislature is going to have to find another way to raise money for our public schools," he said.

Kubiak added that two-thirds of the school districts in Texas will increase property taxes by 1977, and any move to raise them again "would be an outright fantasy." Property owners simply can't afford to pay a higher property tax than they are already paying," he said.

"It would be well for us to remember that Gov. Briscoe's 'no new taxes' slogan really means 'no new taxes', and the governor may be planning on another huge local property tax increase in 1977. I am almost certain the legislature will defeat another property tax increase, which leaves us with the necessity for an alternative tax," Kubiak stated.

"The realities of state government indicate that a new tax will be necessary in 1977 and the time has come to stop ignoring these realities." Kubiak concluded.

Rotarians To Hear Shell Lignite Plans

Two Shell Oil Co. executives will be guest speakers at the Cameron Rotary Club meeting Wednesday to tell about the company's lignite mining plans for Milam County.

They are Keith Doig, vice-president of mining ventures for Shell, and N. J. (Neil) Isto, manager mining ventures for Shell.

Doig, who holds a BS degree in mechanical engineering from the California Institute of Technology, joined Shell in 1946. He spent most of his early career in exploration and production assignments, holding posts in Ventura and Los Angeles, New Orleans, New York City, and Houston.

Doig was named vice-president Planning and Economics in October 1971, and to his present position in February 1974.

Isto, who received a BS degree in general engineering from South Dakota School of Mines and Technology, joined Shell as a mechanical engineer in Houston in 1955. Following numerous assignments in the Denver area, he became division production superintendent, Houston area, in 1967.

He was transferred to New Orleans in 1969 when he became division production manager, offshore division, southern exploration and production region, and was named manager of drilling and production operations, southern exploration and production region in 1971.

In May 1972, he was named division production manager, Rocky Mountain division in Denver. He assumed his present position of manager of mining in 1973.

Burglars Rifle Swanzy's Grocery

Burglars, breaking in through a back door, got away with about $600 worth of groceries and other items from Swanzy's Grocery in Ben Arnold Thursday night.

Swanzy said the thieves took just about all his cigarettes, cigars, and chewing tobacco, all his shotgun shells, soaps, gloves, soft goods, and shoe polish. They also took all his bacon, steaks, and other meats from an icebox.

Two boxes of cosmetics and plastic goods had been packed by the burglars, but for some reason the boxes were left behind.

The Milam County Sheriff's Department is investigating the burglary.

Fire Destroys Home

Cameron volunteers answered a call to the Alvin Dodd home, about five miles from Ben Arnold on the Clarkson road at 9 p.m. Thursday. When firemen arrived the unoccupied home was engulfed in flames and they were unable to save it. A passing CB operator reported the fire.

Milam Transit Authority...

Milam commissioners might take a close look at a proposed county transit system. Though it may seem premature, public transportation in Milam County might dovetail with public transportation in the future with other counties until links are established with Cen-Tex metro areas.

Gas prices are up. No new highways are foreseen in the next few years by Texas highway experts. Public transportation authority may be needed to bring together inter-city transportation as far as Houston, Austin, Waco someday because individual vehicles may be too expensive to run any distance.

Railroads used to meet the need. Bus service in this part of the state is available, but limited because at present demand is limited.

Establishing a public transportation authority may be a first step in solving transportation problems when costs limit the individual and his family from private means.

Monorail or similar service may one day criss-cross Milam County on the way to North and South Texas cities.

Curious Farm Year....

Cotton and cattle are off this year over last.

Cotton planted in Milam County, according to Milam Extension figures, is down to 17,000 acres in 1975, compared to 31,000 acres in 1974. Income is less than half of a year ago, $3.5 millions down to 1975's $1.6 million.

Hog sales were up $1.1 million over a year ago, to $3.3 millions.

A gain of 15,000 acres of grain sorghum brought the Milam acreage to 75,000 acres, but yields were down to an average of about 2,100 pounds per acres, partially due to abandonment of about 5,000 acres.

Grain was down about $700,000 to $6.6 millions.

All this says that a balanced agriculture economy kept disaster from the Milam agri-business doorstep. If it had all been cotton, all cattle, all milo, or any other commodity, things would have been tough.

Extension estimates are for a $1.2 million drop in farm income, to $25.5 millions.

It was a curious year if not a disappointing year.

"Low Down" FROM THE Congressional Record

By JOE CRUMP

(A Column for Readers Who Haven't Time to Review the Congressional Record Daily)

SOVIET INFILTRATION OF SENATE STAFFS?

Rep. Larry McDonald (Ga.) ". . .All of us take an oath to support and uphold the Constitution of the United States when we are sworn in. In a little more perfunctory way, the members of our personal stffs as well as other House employees take the same oath. We also swear to defend this country against enemies. Now, unfortunately, this may have become a rather routine sort of thing such as the singing of "The Star-Spangled Banner" before the ball game starts, but the oath remains.

"As some of you are aware, a few weeks ago Senator Goldwater revealed on the Martin Agronsky show, that night, hosted by John Lofton, Vice President Rockefeller had informed him that in the course of the investigation of the Central Intelligence Agency by the Rockefeller Commission evidence of Soviet infiltration of some seven to nine Senate staffs had come to light. The Vice President had promised him that this information would be in the final report. This information did not appear. and the Vice President subsequently revealed that it had been deleted from the final report at the insistence of someone near the President.

"Senator Goldwater, I am told, is concerned about this matter and intends to raise it with Senator Church's committee which is investigating the CIA. I think this is both fitting and proper.

"Perhaps the House of Representatives needs to look to its own skirts to see whether or not they are clean. House employees should have the United States as their first and only loyalty. Some 51 of us have directed a letter to Senator Church asking him to look into this matter in order that we and the American people may be satisfied that the U. S. Senate is not a KBG haven.

"Based upon what is found, it is my thinking and hope that of my colleagues, that this House ought to consider a similar investigation, if it appears to be warrented. . ."

Senator Goldwater should identify the "someone near the President' who insisted that the information regarding the infiltration should be "deleted" from the final report. Otherwise, the world "someone" can only be labeled a "weasel word."

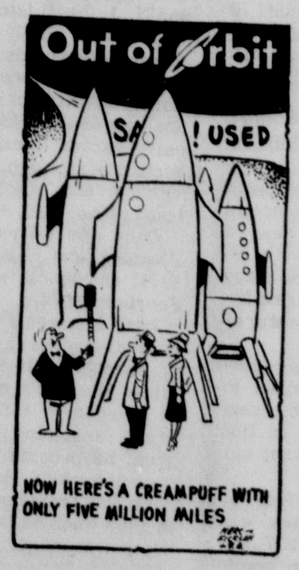
CRUMP'S GRASS ROOTS COMMENT



Venezuela Struggles To Reduce Luxury Imports

By Gerardo Inchausti

CARACAS

Reuter--Every year about this time Venezuela's major port, La Guaira, is jammed with ships bringing in the Christmas goodies.

Venezuela is the world's fifth largest producer of petroleum and the third largest exporter. But oil, which produces this country's wealth, is also causing financial problems, and those Christmas goodies are part of the problem.

Venezuela is importing too much--not just luxury goods but also most of its essential foodstuffs and manufactured goods.

The Central Bank says Venezuela will import goods worth $6 billion this year if the present rate of increase is maintained, $12 billion worth in 1980.

The band sees a balance-of-payments crisis as inevitable by 1977 unless exports can be diversified to reduce dependence on non-renewable petroleum, and the increase in imports can be halted.

While the government ponders this long-term problem, it is doing what it can now by cutting back its own budget for next year.

Loans overseas will be reduced to channel as many petro-dollars as possible into development of the country's internal financial structures, producing jobs, and, it is hoped, leading to self-sufficiency.

A gradual cutback in petroleum production--to preserve resources--means a falling off in real income despite greatly increased world old prices. So next year's budget is being slashed by $1.6 billion compared with that for 1975.

No minister is unaffected and President Carlos Andres Perez has decreed that the country's investment fund must should er part of the burden.

The fund was created to speed economic development of this country of 12 million people, where there are stark differences in life styles of rich and poor.

The fund's capital now stands at around $5.5 billion. But no investments will be made from it next year, except from interest on the capital and from existing loans.

The fund was also intended to help other third world countries improve themselves, with direct investment in development projects for financial assistance to set up commodity "cartell's modelled to some extent on the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries (OPEC) of whih Venezuela was a founder member.

But it is beginning to look as though investment overseas will have to wait.

Henceforth Venezuela will give preference to national development projects at the expense of those in other countries.

Overseas aid, from now on, is likely not only to be reduced but also to be placed through the fund which OPEC is setting up to help the third world, instead of directly by Venezuela a s in the past.

The OPEC fund is scheduled to begin with capital of from $1.5 to $2 billion, with member countries contributing according to their petroleum income.

Officials stress Venezuela does not intend to abandon overseas investment altogether, but there will be fewer bilateral loans.

A new idea now being explored by the Venezuelan investment fund is the setting up in London of an investment bank, through which funds would be channeled into the European Common Market which, in turn, would be expected to organize more efficient technological help to third world countries.

Rival Groups Vie In Angola

By Fred Bridgland

NOVA LISBOA, Angola Reuter--The fortunes of rival nationalist groups in Angola have changed in the last days before independence with military successes for Unita, previously regarded as weakest of the three.

Unita has claimed its most spectacular successes of the civil war, and now says it controls Lobito, Angola's main port, and most of the trans-Africa Benguela railway that corsses Angola.

Unita's victories have apparently been at the expense of the Popular Movement for the Liberation of Angola (MPLA), which controls the capital, Luanda, and has been described as the strongest of the three liberation movements.

Five centuries of Portuguese rule in Angola ended on November 11 amid uncertainty over which nationalist movement will emerge as the victor.

Unita officials admit that in view of the scale of the war and the increasing sophistication of the equipment it is necessary to hire foriegn "technicians."

"Call them mercenaries if you insist," said one official.

One young Unita member told me that there were 15 American military instructors at the camp where he was training at Kapolo, near Silva Porto.

Ten days ago Angola's third largest port, Mocamedes, fell to Unita forces. This was significant for until then Unita had no access to the sea.

Then, last Wednesday, Dr. Jonas Savimbi, president of United, claimed the movement's biggest success yet--the capture of Lobito, Angola's premier port, and the nearby town of Benguela.

Lobita stands at the Atlantic terminal of the Trans-Africa Benguela Railway, which crosses Angola for 725 miles before entering Zaire's Katanga Province and then Zambia.

Besides giving access to the agricultural and mineral riches of Angola's interior, it is a lifeline to the sea for Zambia and south and central Zaire.

Since August, the railway--jointly owned by the British firm Tanganyika Concessions and Union Minere of Belgium--has been closed because the MPLA and Unita controlled different sections of the line.

Now Unita says it controls the whole line in Angola except for the far eastern end including the border town of Teixeira Da Sousa, where the railroad enter Zaire.

Dr. Svaimbi said on Wednesday his next military objective was to clear MPLA forces from the short eastern section of the line.

Vivian Wadsworth, London manager of Tanganyika Concessions, said that a week ago MPLA controlled the eastern and western ends of the railroad and Unita the central section.

He had heard that Unita had not captured the coastal strip including Lobito and Benguela.

The company was officially in contact with both organizations and expected to be able to reopen the line within 10 days of being told that one organization controlled the whole stretch and receiving guarantees that trains would not be attacked.

Dr. Savimbi said: "I think now with the capture of Lobito all the doors are open, all the hopes are open, that the Benguela Railway will function very shortly."

The re-opening of the railroad would be of importance to Zaire and Zambia, which have encountered difficulties in exporting their copper and importing essential goods. Six new Zambia Railways diesel-electric locomatives are stranded in Angola with 777 goods cars.

If both countries decided to use a Unita-controlled line it would be a political boost for Dr. Savimbi.

It now seems certain that Unita will divert some of the 5,000 troops and 55 armored cars it used in the assualt of Lobito to the Santa Comba front, 250 miles south or Luanda.

Legend has it that if a butterfly lands on a girl, she will get a new dress!

It makes good sense to pay a little more for electricity now... than a lot more later.

Texas Power & Light Company's costs of producing and supplying electricity have risen drastically in the past several years...and they're certain to continue to go up in the future.

TP&L must have fuels to operate its generating plants. Natural gas, which will account for about 77% of fuel requirements in 1975, rose in price approximately 84% during the year.

To reduce its dependency on natural gas, TP&L has underway a massive program to utilize less expensive lignite coal and nuclear materials. However, lignite and nuclear plants cost much more to build than gas plants. Two lignite-fueled generating plants are already in operation and others are under construction or in advance stages of planning. A nuclear-fueled plant is also under construction.

Hundreds of millions of dollars will be required by TP&L in the next few years to construct generating plants. Most of this money must come from the sale of bonds and stocks to investors. To sell these securities, we must be able to pay competitive rates of interest on bonds and dividends on stocks.

All of these conditions and others left TP&L no choice but to recently ask its customers to pay more for their electric service now to assure adequate and reliable service in the future.

BELFAST

Irish Republican guerrillas who have called a truce in their fight with the British Army are now turning their guns on each other. The conflict is centered in Belfast where a murderous feud has erupted between the rival provisional and official wings of the outlawed Irish Republican Army (IRA). There are fears that it could spread throughout the province.

SYDNEY

Sydney has become the gambling capital of the southern hemisphere--and its inhabitants are happy to splurge their money on anything that moves. That is the picture drawn by prominent New South Wales politician George Paciullo, the state opposition spokesman for sport and recreation. Prime Minister Indira Ghandi's recent visit to Kashmir appears to have done little to resolve the dipsute over who should hold power in the strategic Himalayan state. The conflict is between the Mrs. Ghandi's Congress Party and the revived National Conference Party of Sheikh Mohammed Abdullah, who returned to Kashmir as chief minister in February after 22 years in exile.

WASHINGTON

American officials believe Egyptian presidentAnwar Sadat's historic goodwill visit to the United States has helped to solidify relations between the two countries despite Jewish anger over his publicly expressed hostility to Zionism. The most important factor of the visit, in the eyes of these officials, is simply that it happened and that in the main, Sadat was warmly received.

NORTHEAST CHINA

A wall poster in flowing Chinese script is pasted up in the center of this Manchurian city accusing a group of militia of murdering a Chinese housewife. It is signed by her husband and he is taking advantage of China's new constitution which guarantees freedom of speech and the right to state grievances in public posters. In his poster, the husband says life is very hard for the family now that his wife is dead.

BRUSSELS

After years of inactivity, the North Atlantic Treaty Organization is now trying to do something about the estimated six billion dollars it wastes every year by duplicating weapons. This will involve standardizing weapons and military equipment among the Alliance's 15 member states. It would also mean that the United States, NATO's most powerful member, would stop its practice of automatically favoring American industry when buying new arms for its troops.

MOSCOW

A former top leader of the Chinese Communist Partyhas issued a posthumous appeal to the people of his country to overthrow Mao Tse-Tung and re-establish friendship with the Soviet Union. The appeal is made in a book just published in Moscow with the Kremlin seal of approval and written by the late Wang Ming, one time general secretary of the Chinese party and long a major rival of Mao for the supreme leadership.

YOE FACES LLANO IN BI-DISTRICT

Yoe Exterminates Wrecked Cougars

Let it be said, the Cameron Yoemen blisteres the Rosebud-Lott Cougars in what turned out to be the highest scoring game of the season, 54-0, that earned the Yoemen their second outright district championship in a row.

As the brisk winds of the norther blew across Cougar Field in front of the sparsley populated Cougar fan section, the Number One Yoemen picked apart the reminants of the Cougars who have gone all season without a victory.

It was a balanced attack from the Yoe Fence, gathering in 4 interceptions and 3 fumble recoveries, converting 5 of those mistakes for touchdowns.

As impressive as the Fence the Yoe offense tallied 8 touchdowns, 3 in the first quarter, in the second, 1 in the thrid, and then 2 again n the final segment, vaulting the Yoemen's score like points in a basketball game.

Everyone on the bench played circles around the Cougars who watched in dismay as Robert Miller picked up 98 yards in 18 carries with one touchdown followed by #35 Michael Knight, clipping off 65 yards in 12 carries into pay dirt twice.

The bombs were bursting in air with Michal White threading the needle for 2 touchdown tosses. Dennis Hollas gathered in one touchdown throw and scampered 53 yerds. Ronnie "Too Tall" Bennett pounded 64 yards and crossed the magic line once.

The picture is painted by the mere examination of the final statistics. The Yoe offense linked the first down chain 22 times to the Cougars' 5. Yards rushing the Yoemen churned out 240 to 105 for the Nougars. The passing department looks like a carbon copy with the Yoemen leading 113 to R-Lott's 7.

A bucket of four leaf clovers wouldn't have helped the Cougars in their try to upset the number one ranked Cameron Yoemen when their only opportunity was dished out on a silver plater.

The Yoemen received the opening kick off and in two plays the Cougars owned the ball on their 20 yard line after an Aaron Miller fumble.

David Kornegay proved the Cougar's right to ownership was premature when he picked off a C. E. Wolfe pass. Kornegay was upended at the Cougar 35.

On the second play, Micheal White, with a play action pass, rolled back and teletyped a 35 yard pass-run combination to Ronnie Bennett who jogged into the end zone on the solo mission.

Joey Mondrik rushed on to add the extra point giving the Yoemen a 7-0 lead with 10:52 remaining on the clock.

On a Cougar punt David Rosemond filtered through the Cougar specialty team like water running through a tea strainer to set the Yoe offense up on the Cougar 5 yard line.

Dennis Hollas bumbed off four yards, then Aaron Miller got the call and extended through the offensive line for the signaled six points. Ysidoro Tamez filled the kicking boot and tacked on the extra with 6:35 gleaming on the clock.

Dennis Hollas, on the next series, snatched off another Wolfe pass on the Cougar 41, with 5:19 remaining in the first quarter.

Two minutes later from 20 yards out Robert Miller scurried through the dialated Cougar defense for the third touchdown of the quarter. The Yoemen took a 21-0 lead after Tamez' boot was signaled good.

A fumble recovery by Brian Wilkinson set the Yoe offense in the next scoring range as the officials spotted the ball on the 39.

White faded back to throw on the first down pass, but it was overthrown. But on the next pass White found Dennis Hollas; just a little shoulder fake and scamper on in, Hollas entere d the end zone untouched for six. Tamez added the PAT and the Yoemen dominance was evident, 28-0, with 3 minutes remaining in the half.

A pitch out by Cougar QB Wolfe was intercepted by sophomore Jon Schmidt who ran light footed to the 5 yard line before he was ambushed from behind.

Hollas busted through on the next play for the five yards that tilted the Cougars 34-0 within one minute of the preceding touchdown. Tamez' boot was wide right.

It looked like another Yoe touchdown was in the making when sophomore John McIntyre picked off the Wolfe throw before the half time buzzer sounded.

Welcome back to the second half. . .Or was it such a welcome? For the Yoe fans it was the finest single night of offensive history for several years.

Joey Mondrik picked off another Wolfe pass to set the next Yoe scoring attack up on the 20. Michael Knight, standing as tall as the uprights, danced in from 6 yards out with 3:07 in the third quarter. Tamez with the PAT and Yoe led 41-0.

Another Cougar mistake allowed the Yoe field position on the 33, when Brian Cobb recovered a fumble. Aga n Michal Knight leaped into pay dirt with two defenders riding his back, and bounced off the defense like a bumper car. With Tamez's PAT Yoe led 47-0 with 11:55 remaining.

Roderick Kelley added some more of that good ole' sophomore power when his high voltage running carried him 46 yards on the punt return behind the superior blocking of Jimmy Kohutek who laid the pathway to glory.

The end of the final district game was closed, it was an expensive night for the Cougars who paid to learn what it means to play the top ranked Cameron Yoemen.

The Fighting Yoemen will play Llano in the Bi-District.

Sports Roundup

Llano Edged Burnet

LLANO

The Llano edged Burnet 7-0 for the undisputed rights to meet the Cameron Yoemen in the Bi-District playoffs. Gerald Kasper carried the mail in from one yard out for the only score of the night. The Llano Yellow Jackets' score came with 2:46 remaining in the first period. The shutout gives the Yellow Jackets four for the season while the Yoemen have shut out five in a row and 7 in the season. Llano will face the Yoemen with an 8-2 overall record.

Hornets Down Elgin

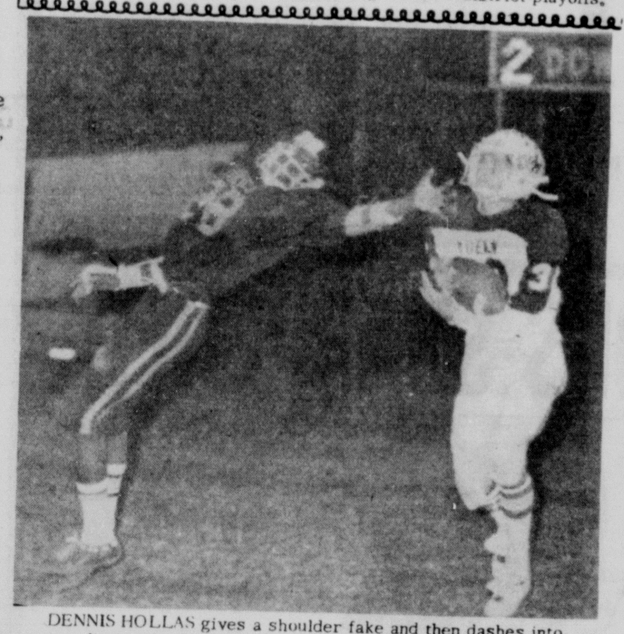
CALDWELL

The revenge didn't run so smooth for the Caldwell Hornets who still remember the bitter defeat they suffered in Elgin in '74 that unseated them from the state playoffs. The Hornets outlasted the Wildcats 12-7. Caldwell went on the board first on a one yard plunge by John Ayers, the PAT failed. Neither team's offenee generated a scoring threat until the final stanza with both teams scoring. Glen Hughes penetrated the goal line from one yard out. The PAT once again failed. Bobby Mc Lendon on the quarterback keeper scored with 1:40 remaining. The one point conversion try was good and the end of the season was near.

Eagles Take Crown

ROGERS

The Rogers Eagles weren't goint to let the district crown slip past them Friday night when they edged a tough Thrall defense 15-8. In 11 years the Eagles have represented that district 7 times, that's dominance. Thrall took an early lead, responding to an Eagle touchdown by Bobby Nabours which came on a Larry Clowers toss for 50 yards. Thrall checked the TD with their own version of the scoring on a three yard plunge by Roy Montgomery. Lynn Sladek ran the two point conversion giving Thrall a 8-7 hope of sending the district into a tie. Ricky Douglas capped the 88 yard series on a three yard run. Douglas polished the district crown with the 2 point conversion. Rogers will meet Schulenburg in the bi-district playoffs.



DENNIS HOLLAS gives a shoulder fake and then dashes into pay dirt on the 39 yard pass. This gave the Yoemen a 28-0 lead. Mike Peck photo.

Rockdale Tigers Advance In Play-offs

Rockdale took possession of the District 12AAA-District Crown by unending Georgetown 38-3 in another high scoring stepping-stone. Leading the Cen-Tex area in the offensive department, Rockdale scored once in the opening quarter, twice in the second, a touchdown and a field goal in the third, and once more in the final quarter to shame the Eagles.

The only Georgetown score came in the first quarter after the first Rockdale score.

Rockdale tallied 25 first downs to the Eagles' 7, the Tigers rushed for 394 yards while the Eagles amassed 127 yards. In the passing department the Tigers led, 54-28.

Ray Locklin picked up 112 yard to lead the Tiger offensive attack scoring on a 14 yard run. Mario Garza tapped the extra point and the Tigers led 7-0.

Georgetown's offense flickered like a candle in the wind, and it's only score came on a 26-yard field goal by Eddie Catron.

In the second quarter Locklin exploded 31 yards for his second TD after Odis Mach picked off an interception.

Locklin was again the scoring vehicle as he plunged in from one yard out. It took the Tigers only 6 plays to go 83 yards on the third TD drive.

Mid way through the third quarter Mario Garza sailed a 35-yard field goal through the uprights to give the Tigers a 24-3 lead.

Mack got the call from nine yards out and rambled into pay dirt after runs of Martin Stroman.

The final Tiger touchdown came in the fourth quarter when Gary White broke through the magic line from 14 yards out with 10:58 remaining the the lopsided affair.

The Tigers will advance into Bi-District playoffs against Humble and the Herald Sports will feature the game site and time in the Thursday edition.

Ag's Basic Problems Told At Rockefeller Meeting

AUSTIN

Texas Farm Bureau President Carrol Chaloupka Tuesday told a public forum on domestic policy that agriculture has two basic problems relating to the federal government--inflation and government interference.

Speaking on "food production" at the regional meeting called by Vice President Nelson Rockefeller, the farm leader said, "All we ask is a political and economic climate that provides an opportunity to make a profit. Give us this and we will produce food and fiber in abundance."

Chaloupka was one of several leaders of various sectors of the economy invited to participate from five southwestern states--Texas, Arkansas, Louisiana, New Mexico, and Oklahoma. Four members of the President's Cabinet were scheduled to preside at various sections of the conference.

The Farm Bureau leader listed five specific recommendatins "for agriculture for our future food supply."

"(1) Control inflation--it's killing us!

"(2) Stop harrassment by government agencies. Unreasonable, unrealistic, impractical regulations are a serious threat to agriculture's future.

"(3) Make the tools of production available to agriculture. Fuel, machinery, supplies, fertilizer, chemicals are necessary for food production.

"(4) Provide adequate research programs for the production and marketing of agricultural products.

"(5) Stop interference in our free markets through price controls, export embargoes, and regulations."

Chaloupka said agricultural production costs have increased substantially more than prices farmers receive. As an example of rising costs, he said a tractor which sold for $9,200 in 1970 costs some $16,100 today.

He charged that deficit spending by the federal government is the cause of inflation.

"The only way inflation can be controlled is for government to spend no more than is collected in taxes," he said.

On the subject of government interference, Chaloupka said government agencies administer laws for agriculture that "seem to be totally different from the intent of Congress."

"The Environmental Protection Agency and the Occupational Safety and Health Administration are prime examples of this," he said. "The use of agricultural chemicals has been curtailed without adequate research. The EPA had made it difficult, if not impossible, to use Mirex to control the fire ant."

Chaloupka said many government programs amount to harrassment and are costly.

"We are constantly engaged in hearings and law suits requiring research and legal fees," he said.

He cited government export restrictions as a "most serious example" of government interference in agriculture.

"Foreign markets are absolutely necessary for agriculture," he said. "One of every four acres of production goes abroad."

GI Bill Enrollment Sets Record

Enrollments for training under the current GI Bill passed the six million mark in September, three months into the 10th year of its existence, Jack Coker, Veterans Administration regional directors, reported today.

He noted that during the 12-year life of the World War II GI Bill, 7.8 milllion, slightly more than half of those eligible, received training. The Korean Conflict GI Bill attracted 2.4 million participants, or 43 percent of the total veterans, during its 12 1/2 year history.

Coker asserted that more than 55 percent of the 10.8 million eligible veterans and servicement have trained under the current bill. Among 7.7 million Vietnam-era veterans, four million--60 percent--have participated. Included were 641,822 who trained while still on active duty.

Benefits Told For Widows

More than 400 widows of servicemen who died of service-connected causes and wives of men listed as missinh in action purchased homes with loans guaranteed by the Veterans Administration during fiscal year 1975, Jack Coker, VA Regional Director, reported today.

The GI home loans were among 292,856 guaranteed by the VA during FY 1975, included were 21 loans to wives of men listed by the Department of Defense as missing in Southeast Asia.

More than 8.8 million veterans and elegible dependents have borrowed $113.5 billion under the VA loan guarantee program since 1944. It was noted that entitlement was extended in 1959 to include unremarried spouses of veterans whose deaths resulted from military service during or after World War II.

The maximum GI loan is $17,500. This is the amount the VA will guarantee private lenders making loans to veterans for buying, building, orimproving homes. The VA guarantee permits loans without large down payments, required for conventional loans, to puchase homes with capital attracted by the guarantee.
